

Ranveer Chandra

Chief Scientist

Microsoft Azure Global

Ranveer Chandra is the Chief Scientist at Microsoft Azure Global. His research has shipped in multiple Microsoft products, including Windows, XBOX, Azure, Visual Studio, and Surface.

Ranveer is leading FarmBeats, battery, and TV white space research at Microsoft. He has published over 80 papers, and filed over 100 patents, of which over 85 granted by the USPTO. He has won several awards, including the MIT Technology Review's Top Innovators Under 35 (TR35). Ranveer has a PhD from Cornell University, and an undergraduate degree from IIT Kharagpur.